

Infoline honoured for Omanisation initiative

MUSCAT The Ministry of Manpower held a ceremony to honour leading enterprises for contributing to the employment of the national labour force, according to a press release.

Infoline, a leading Business Process Outsourcing (BPO) and Information Technology Enabled Services (ITES) provider in the Sultanate, was honoured for outstanding achievement in Omanisation in the telecom sector category. Khamis Al Balushi, HR manager of Infoline, received the award and the certificate of excellence from HE Dr Yahya Bin Mahfoudh Al Mantheri, Chairman of the State Council, who presided over the ceremony organised by the Ministry of Manpower.

Infoline is complying with His Majesty the Sultan's directive to develop and employ Omani youth. Infoline has put forth Sultanate's Omanisation and other nation building activities at the top of its priorities and policy.

Infoline introduced the concept of third party outsourcing in Oman, thereby generating considerable employment opportunities for Omani nationals. It has set exemplary standards for the development and training of Omani workforce. Firmly believing that its greatest assets are people, the company spares no effort in ensuring the well being of its employees by helping them to develop themselves in their personal and professional lives.

In the last nine years, Infoline has trained more than 1,800 nationals who have found gainful employment thereafter. Infoline's HR practices focus on creating, nurturing and supporting people to meet its ambitious growth plans, through a wide variety of initiatives that cover all stages of employee life cycle. They train and hone the skills of their Omani staff. They have established incentive schemes that help improve performance and productivity of their staff.
